The background of the image is a close-up, high-angle shot of several rectangular stone tiles. The tiles are arranged in a staggered pattern, with some showing a smooth, light-colored surface and others showing a rough, textured surface. The lighting creates strong shadows and highlights, emphasizing the texture and color variations of the stone. A large, semi-transparent black rectangle is centered over the image, containing three paragraphs of white text.

Lithos Gallery, located in Kastoria, Greece, was founded in 1997 and now has one of the most modern production units, with full equipment for cutting and welding mosaic tiles, decors, engraving and gilding marbles.
